

I have been a user of XM radio and listen to the traffic and weather from time to time - and living in the San Francisco Bay area there are times when this information is not being broadcast on public radio channels. As you know - or would expect - the traffic in the San Francisco Bay area changes minute to minute and having this information can allow you to make changes in your driving route to avoid major delays. I support this channel and hope it remains a service provided which I pay for via this subscription with XM Radio. Thank You, Darin Beyer
